Day #17

Raising Caring Kids: Keep Calm and Carry On to Success

In fact, you can help children "try again" by saying, "Let's talk about what you tried and what you can try next time." You can also support a child's growth when you praise the steps they take to learn something new. This is called a growth mindset. Learn more about how to support growth mindset.

Today is the last Raising Caring Kids email and we'd like your feedback. Completing this short survey should take less than 5 minutes. Thank you!

Summer Library

Brandon School will once again offer students the opportunity to checkout ten books for the summer. Summer checkout will start Thursday, May 30th for students who have all of their current books checked in and all library fines taken care of.
