Online Chat - We have become aware of an online chat forum that is becoming popular with some of our students called Omegle. Please note that this website is blocked on our school network, but if your child has a cell phone with data, they may still be able to access the open online chat. Omegle claims that users can "Chat with random strangers online – it's fun, it's a new experience every time." Users can share text, images, or videos, including inappropriate content. If you're looking for a way to better monitor and filter your child's online habits on a home device, the RBSD Technology Committee would recommend looking at this list from PC Mag, "The Best Parental Control Software for 2021"
